November 12th. Alarm, false.

December 11th. Alarm, false.

December 12th. Alarm, at 11 1-2, was caused by fire in the third story of the frame dwelling of Josiah T. Reed, No. 16, Essex-st. The house is one of a block of five three-story houses occupied respectively by Isaac B. Clapp, No. 14, by J. T. Reed, No. 16, by Willard Knowles, No. 18, by J. W. Reed, No. 20, and by F. O. Reed, No. 22. The loss of J. T. Reed was $500 on the building and $500 on the furniture and clothing; the former was covered by insurance in the Mechanics' Mutual, Boston. All the occupants save Mr. Knowles, owned their houses, and their loss is severally between 200 and 300 dollars—caused by a defect in the chimney. The flue had burned out that morning and the bricks heated to an unusual extent by masses of soot that fell down, and is supposed to have smouldered on through the forenoon; the heat set the work on fire round the chimney on the first floor and the fire found its way up between the partitions of the first and second floors and first made its appearance in the chambers of the third story; the track of the fire was curious to behold; only a space of about the size of a man's arm was burned, the flames going out behind as it passed up between the partitions through the three entire stories, very much as a fuse burns; between the ceiling and the rooms in the third story and the roof, was an open space of about six or eight inches, and the dividing walls of the houses not being carried up to the roof, left this space continuous, consequently, as soon as the fire escaped from between the partitions it spread over the entire block, and threatened the neighborhood with serious conflagration. At this fire the Mystic water was brought into service, the works operating well. Damage, $938. Insurance, $650.

January 6th, 1865. The dwelling house belonging to Mrs. Walker on Main street was damaged by fire to the amount of $50. Cause, carelessness.

January 7th. Alarm, an attempt to burn Brown's stable on Everett street.

January 8th. Alarm, attempt to burn Cottrell & Brooks' lumber wharf.

January 19th. Alarm, slight fire on Canal street. Also, another caused by smoking house on Monument square on account of small pox.

February 2d. Alarm, from South Malden.

February 16th. Alarm, from varnish factory on Alford street. Damage, not ascertained.

February 24th. Alarm, caused by slight fire in a small building on Chelsea bridge. Cause, accidental.

February 25th. Alarm, caused by fire in a carpenter's shop on Lexington street, owned and occupied by David Preston. Damage $75. No insurance. Cause, accidental.

Alarm at 11 1-2 P. M., false.

February 26th. Alarm, at 8 1-2 P. M., false.
